Propositions

NO on Prop. 98

The Hidden Agendas Scheme

Prop. 98 is a deceptive scheme full of hidden agendas, funded by wealthy landlords, that attacks renters, our public schools, the environment, and our economy.

- It harms public education by making it much more difficult to build new schools and expand existing ones to relieve overcrowded classrooms.
- It harms the environment by gutting environmental protections, like laws we need to combat global warming, and protect our land, air, water supply, and coasts.
- It harms renters by eliminating rent control in California. Teachers, low-income families, seniors, and students all benefit from stable, affordable rents.

YES on Prop. 99

The Homeowner's Protection Act

Prop. 99 is honest reform that would protect our homes from eminent domain abuse. It contains no hidden agendas and no adverse consequences.

- This measure is the proper way to protect homeowners' rights and property—without hurting schools and students.
- Prop. 99 would prohibit government from taking our homes to transfer to a private developer.
- Prop. 99 protects homeowners from eminent domain, with no hidden provisions.

Since entering the legislature in 2003, Ridley-Thomas has a 100% AFL-CIO score. He's a true friend of labor and public education. That's the kind of candidate we need to support.
